

I am dependent on captioning for television viewing. One of the things that I find particularly irritating is that programs that are captioned during one showing are not captioned when the show is repeated. Larry King Live is an example. The show is captioned when it is shown live at 8PM (CST), but when it is rebroadcast later in the evening, and again on Sunday, the captions don't show. I have sent messages to CNN about this, but have never received a reply.
